A Little Heroine.

Last Thursday, Mrs. George Rorick living 3 miles south-east of this place, left her 9 year old daughter in charge of the house and little baby for a short time while she was attending to some out-door duties. A short time after her mother's departure, the little girl discovered that a kettle of grease which had been left on the stove, was on fire. In attempting to remove the kettle, she had her fingers burned, causing her to drop the blazing mass upon the floor, part of the contents falling upon her clothing which instantly blazed up and enveloped her in flames, at this critical moment the little girl displayed great presence of mind she pushed the blazing kettle out of doors, and then returned and carried the baby to a place of safety, after which she ran to a puddle partly filled with water in the barn yard and rolled in the muddy water and quenched the flames, thus no doubt saving her life. The upper portion of the girl's body, with the exception of her face, was burned almost to a crisp. Dr. E. L. Viers was called to attend to her injuries, and under his care the little heroine is rapidly recovering.—Liberty Press.

A farmer of Delaware county, Pa., troubled by crows, soaked a peck of corn in whisky and scattered it near a fence much frequented by the birds. They ate it of and got decidedly drunk, and the farmer was so amused by the exhibition that he forbore to shoot them, and after a time they flew unsteadily away. The result was good. The crows never came back. The heads they had the next morning must have been all that they desired.

An exchange remarks very truthfully. 'Tis wrong to cheat the baker out of his honest dues, 'tis worse to beat the cobbler who mends your boots and shoes; there may be pardon for the wretch who steals your wood and coal, but the man who cheats the printer would surely lose his soul.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, and in this way positively cures catarrh.

While a band of 400 steers were being driven from Bureau, Idaho, to Hallock, a disease broke out among the cattle which made them blind, the eyes frequently running out, and 200 of them were abandoned.

They have discovered a kind of mud, down in Georgia, which possesses the properties necessary to cure rheumatism. Many remarkable cures are reported as having occurred from rubbing the mud upon persons afflicted with the malady.

The following is the experience of a Baltimore butcher:—I have suffered with bad headaches for years and have tried many remedies without obtaining relief. I was advised to give Sarsaparilla a trial and it has entirely cured me.

Ed. Baltz, La Fayette Market, Baltimore, Md.

What is a cold in the head? Medical authorities say it is due to atmospheric germs, uneven clothing of the body, rapid cooling when in a perspiration, etc. The important fact is, that a cold in the head is a genuine rhinitis, an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose, which, when unchecked, is certain to produce a catarrhal condition—for catarrh is essentially a "cold" which nature is no longer able to "resolve" or throw off. Ely's Cream Balm has proved its superiority, and sufferers from cold in the head should resort to it before that common ailment becomes seated and ends in obstinate catarrh.

Crawford county has a citizen, Burr Slagle by name, who goes insane regularly every fall, and is confined in the asylum during the winter. During the spring and summer he is perfectly sane, and is an exemplary, hard working citizen. A few days since he was taken to Columbus to spend his sixth winter in the asylum.

Mr. F. Rentschler, San Francisco, Cal., contracted a severe cold, and became so hoarse he could not speak. He tried a number of remedies without benefit, and even the efforts of two physicians failed to give the slightest relief. He was induced to try Red Star Cough Cure, one bottle of which entirely cured him.

The First Keen Twinge.

As the season advances, the pains and aches by which rheumatism makes itself known, are experienced after every exposure. It is not claimed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a specific for rheumatism—we doubt if there is, or can be, such a remedy. But the thousands benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla, warrant us in urging others who suffer from rheumatism to take it before the first keen twinge.

Chronic Catarrh

Catarrh is inflammation of the mucous membrane, attended with increased secretion. Thus catarrh may affect the head, throat, stomach, bowels, or any part of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, coming on so gradually that often its presence is not suspected until it has obtained a firm hold on its victim. It is caused by a cold, or a succession of colds, combined with

Impure Blood.

When finally established the disease is exceedingly disagreeable, causing flow from the nose, dryness of the throat, headache, loss of appetite, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, etc. In Hood's Sarsaparilla may be found a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh. It purifies and enriches the blood, soothes and rebuilds the diseased membrane, and thus cures the disease. At the same time it refreshes and tones the whole system. The remarkable success of this peculiar medicine entitles it to your confidence. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I am happy to state that I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, with which I have been troubled many years, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by yawning and spitting was painful. My grocer advised me to try and it gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house, as I think it is worth its weight in gold." Mrs. G. B. Ginn, 1028 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I have received more permanent benefit from it than from any other remedy I have ever tried." M. E. READ, of A. Read & Son, Wausau, Ohio.
